SIMLA.

Dear Sir.

Thank you for your letter. I am not prepared to publish a translation of your learned work at my own charges. I offered to the S. P. C. K. Madras to let them have a translation if after obtaining permission

From you they would undertake to publish it they refused - though they had published a translation of Rabbi Geijers Essay on Judaism to Islam which I translated some years ago.

Your book would be accessible to large numbers of English speaking Muslims in India if an English translation were available.

I have very little time for such work but I am prepared if you like to make a translation
to hand it over to you entirely. I neither wish to make nor to spend money on the work.

I send you some specimen pages of very roughly done translation that

You may judge in some measure of my work. Of course I should revise it entirely as there are doubtless many very awkward & involved
sentences in my translation.
I shall be grateful if you will in any case return the M.S. to me.

Yours truly

J. M. Young
